

I believe the concentration of media outlet ownership is a misuse of the public channels. It gives too much control over public communication to too few. That these are commercial instead of public entities is a further restriction